WANTED THE BLANKS FILLED.

A Youngster Who Went to Headquarters for News Concerning the Cabinet.

An interesting incident occurred at General Harrison's residence yesterday, when a little girl was trying to ring the door-bell and was noticed by General Harrison was passing through the ball. He stopped and asked her what he could do for her, and she said very timidly that she wanted to see President Harrison. This necessitated an explanation that there was no President Harrison in existence at this time, but the child finally said that she guessed the General was the man she wanted, and putting her hand in her pocket she pulled out a crumpled piece of paper and said she had a puzzle which she could not work out herself and on which she wanted help. The puzzle turned out to be one of the prize schemes now printed by several newspapers which offer a reward to anybody who will fill out a cor-rect list of the members of the next Cabinet, and it contained the Cabinet offices in a row with a black for the name opposite each department. Here was a quandary. The for information of that character, but the little gir! was not disposed to have it that way, and showed a strong inclination to fill up and ery because she could not get what she wanted. Finally, General Harrison told her that he could not fill out the blanks at that time because be did not know himself what names were to go in them, and with this assurance and a few friendly pats on the head the youngster skipped off in a more contented frame of mind.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS

President Halford Resigns and Is Succeeded by Theodore P. Haughey.

The Association Will Open Commodious Quarters, and Take Steps to Facilitate Their Important Work.

The board of control of the Indianapolis Sun' day-school Association held an important session last evening, in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association. A series of resolutions was adopted, looking to more enlarged and vigorous work. It was determined to open rooms as headquarters for the use of the society and for the State association. The board has in mind to rent and fit up a well-known and centrally located property, in which is a hall, with a seating capacity of 250, a room for an office, another room for committee work, another for reading and other purposes. It is proposed to set these apart for the use of the normal class, the union teachers' meeting, the sessions of the Primary Teachers' Union, the Superintendents' Union, the young people's so-cieties of the city, and other organizations hav-ing any relation to Sunday-school work. In connection with these headquarters, also, there will be a Sunday-school museum, in which will be kept samples of all Sunday-school supplies, such as papers, books, charts, etc., so that teachers, superintendents and others can examine these and learn their value before ordering from publishers or book merchants. The headquarters are to be kept open during the day, with a lady clerk in constant attendance to answer any questions. The board voted to appoint a "ladies' general committee" to assist them in planning and decorating the rooms, making them especially attractive to ladies and in prosecuting the various parts of the association's work. That committee will be selected and allowed to organize by elect-ing its own chairman and secretary and sub-

The board estimated the expense for the year, including rent, furniture, gas, clerk hire, janitor and incidentals of all kinds, at $2,500. It is expected that this will be raised in part from the schools, but subscriptions from individuals will be needed, and the ways and means are to be determined by the finance committee. Mr. E. W. Halford, who has been the president of the association from the beginning, tendered his resignation, which was accepted, and the board passed the following:

Whereas, Mr. E. W. Halford, because of his anticipated change of residence and his present new and arduous duties, feels called to resign the office of president of the Indianapolis Sunday-school Association, therefore.

Resolved, That this board of control, accepting his resignation with regret, tender their thanks for his faithful services and their prayers for his abundant usefulness in another field. Resolved, That during the few months of his residence in the city he be invited to sit with us as an honorary member whenever his other engagements

Mr. T. P. Haughey, of the Meridian-street M. E. Church, was chosen to fill the vacancy, with the understanding that the new incumbent should enter upon the duties of his office imme-

It will thus be seen that this association, after some delays caused by unfortunate circumstances, has determined to carry out the policy adopted at its organization last spring, and to make the city the center of those new measures for Sunday-school improvement which were at that time outlined in the city papers. Dr. Gilbert, who is at the head of all this work, was present at the session of the heard and was present at the session of the board, and was present at the session of the board, and gave his hearty approval, and promised his subsequent co-operation. The members of the board, were confident of success in their new departure, and after adjournment lingered to converse freely concerning the plans.

Primary Sunday-School Teachers' Union. The lesson committee of the Indianapolis Sunday-school Association has established a Primary Teachers' Union for the benefit of all teachers of primary classes in the Sundayschools of the city and vicinity. Like all the other work of the association, it will be under the general supervision of Dr. Gilbert, who is introducing here, as rapidly as possible, the most improved methods for the management of all the departments of Sunday-school effort. The meetings of the Primary Union will be held regularly every Saturday, for one hour, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M., until Feb.1, in the lecture-room of the Second Presbyterian Church.

and afterward in places to be announced. Last Saturday the following organization was effected, good for six months, or until July 1:
Supervisor, Mrs. Fred Baggs, of Roberts Park
M. E. Church; secretary, Miss Addie Brown, of the First English Lutheran Church. Standing committees: On instruction, Miss Ida E. Anderson, of Central-avenue M. E. Church; on literature, Mrs. Thomas C. Day, of First Presbyterian Church; on visitation, Mrs. Eliza McCoy, of the Second Presbyterian Church.

These persons will receive instructions from headquarters, placing the union in full harmony with the plans to be followed by similar soci-The New York Store with the plans to be followed by similar societies in other cities. The supervisor will preside at all meetings of the union. The secretary will keep a roll and mark attendance, and report to the State superintendent. The committee on instruction will provide the weekly programme. The committee on visitation will, by correspondence and otherwise, enlist the primary teachers of the city in the meeting. The committee on literature will exthe union. mittee on literature will gather up from publishing houses books, papers, charts, pamphlets and other matter bearing on primary work, and preserve the same for the use of the members

The sessions of the union will be varied, but these exercises will be commonly had: 1, devotions, five minutes; 2, review of the previous lesson by one appointed, showing the method of teaching employed, five minutes; 3, the lesson of the succeeding Sabbath given in parts, the geography by one teacher and the whole regularly taught as a model by a second teacher, the time occupied not exceeding thirty minutes; 4, additional hints concerning methods gleaned from various lesson magazines five minutes; 5 from various lesson magazines, five minutes; 5, reading of a five-minute paper on some practical topic, to be followed by conversation. On the last meeting in each quarter in lieu of the fifth item the standing committe will report.

Union Sunday-School Teachers' Meeting. The Sunday-school teachers of intermediate and serior classes will meet at 11 o'clock to-day in the lecture-room of the Second Presbyterian Church. After ten minutes' devotion, Dr. Gilbert will present an addres on "The Gospel by Mark," as a preview of the Sunday-school less-sons which are to follow during the next six months. This will take the place of the regular Bible lesson, inasmuch as next Sabbath is a review day in all the schools of the city. After the address the teachers' meeting will be reorganized and some new plans perfected to insure its greater usefulness. The committee having charge of this department of work in the City Sunday-school Association is anxious to secure a large attendance to-day, that there may be a full understanding and co-operation on the part of all who are interested.

Cyclorame Prizes. In addition to the $50 in gold offered as prizes by the Cyclorama Company for the best descriptive essays of the cyclorama, the following firms, becoming interested in the matter, have made the offer of the following prizes: Bingham & Walk, jewelers, a chatelain silver watch and chain, valued at $10, for the second best essay written by child between twelve and sixteen years of age; Charles Mayer & Co. notions, etc., a pair of club ice skates, valued at $5, for the second best essay written by a child between eight and twelve years of age; Will B. Potts, photographer, Cyclorams place, a dozen cabinet photographs to the winners of each of the prizes offered by the Cyclorama Company. The admission for children to Jan. 7 has been reduced to 15 cents.

Delegate Board of Agriculture.

The Delgate State Board of Agriculture will hold its annual session in the State-house on Tuesday, Jan. 8, 1889, at 10:30 A. M. The programme arranged will require three days in its execution. All State associations for the pro-motion of special industries are cordially invited to send representatives. Agricultural societies are requested to send delegates to represent the woman's department at a meeting of the Woman's State Fair Association, which will assemble at the same time in the agricultural rooms at the State-house.

Saloon-Keeper Crone's Severe Punishment, Mayor Denny is again becoming severe on the saloon-keeper who persists in violating the law. Jacob Crone was before him yesterday morning, charged with selling beer to a colored man on Christmas day. The arrest was made by patrolman Weirick, and the attorneys for the de-hand methods in order to catch the saloon-weeper. The attack on the officer aroused the Mayor, and he gave it as his opinion that where saloon-keepers banded together, and by means of signals, electric bells, etc., attempted to evade the law, an officer had the right to wear citizens' clothes, or practice any sort of strategy in order to detect the violators. He fined Mr. Crone $25, and committed him to the workhouse for ten days. The case was appealed to the Criminal Court. It is said that the heavy nenalty was imposed because Crone has been a frequent defendant in the court on the same

IT IS NOT A TRUST.

But the Wrapping-Paper Manufacturers Wil Reduce the Output and Raise Prices.

A meeting held at the Bates House, yesterday afternoon, left the inference that a paper manufacturers' trust is to be formed in the near future. The gentlemen who met represented the Western Paper-makers' Association, an organization that is able to control nearly the entire output of paper, and especially paper bags and wrappings in the West. Hon. M. B. Castle, of Sandwich, Ill., presided at the conference, and there were present representatives from several of the largest paper manufacturers in the country. The meeting was one for consultation only, the special object being to canvass the situation and determine whether or not it would be advisable call a general meeting with a view of forming a closer organization. The representatives present all favored the calling of a general meeting, and it was agreed to notify all the manufactures of this line of goods to meet in Chicago early in January. The date of the meeting was fixed, but it was not made public.

The idea of a closer organization originated several months ago, and the committee which met yesterday was appointed to study the situa-tion and recommend some plan for the relief of the manufacturers who claim to be suffering from an overproduction. While all the papermakers are interested in the movement, the wrapping-paper-makers and the bag manufacturers are the leaders in the movement. The gentlemen who were here yestedday say the market is in a very bad condition on account of the overproduction. The output, it is represented, is about onethird greater than the consumption. This state of affairs, they say, has resulted in some manufacturers having to run on baif-time, and a general demoralization of prices. It will be the purpose of the Chicago meeting to find a method for relief. There is a difference of opinion as to what plan should be pursued, some manufacturers favoring stimulating consumption, while others believe there should be a pool to reduce production. One of the members of the conference committee says it is not likely that there will be any reduction in prices. "We are now selling on a very small margin," said he, "and we could not afford to reduce prices enough to stimulate a consumption that would clean up the annual surplus. It is likely that prices will go up, rather than down. If a pool is formed I think it will be decided to reduce the production about 20 per cent., and then raise prices enough to equalize things."

THE YALE ALUMNI.

The Annual Reunion and Dinner Held at the Residence of Rev. N. A. Hyde.

The annual dinner of the local Yale Alumni Association was given by the Rev. Dr. Nathaniel A. Hyde, last night, at his residence, No. 116 North Alabama street. The guests, to the number of twenty-five, sat at one table, tastefully decorated with flowers and presided over by Dr. Hyde. The repast consisted of about fifteen courses, and was followed by a graceful speech of welcome from Dr. Hyde. Letters of regret were read from Hon. George A. Bicknell, of New Albany, a graduate of the law-school; from Frederick S. Chase, '71, and John O. Perrin. '79, of Lafayette; Evans Woollen, '86, of Wabash, and Robert B. Stimson, '74, of Terre Haute. Toasts were responded to as follows: "Old Yale," Rev. Dr. Wm. W. Backus; "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle," James M. Winters; "Insatiate Yale," Charles R. Pence; ters; "Insatiate Yale," Charles R. Pence;
"Yale's Victories," Charles Sherman King;
"New Haven Girls," Wm. Pirtle Herod; "How Soon We Are Forgot when We Are Gone,"
Clinton L. Hare; "Coming Classes," William H.
Coburn; "How It Feels to Be Hazed," Fletcher
Ritzinger; "Oh, Fresh," Edward E. Gates.

Speeches were also made by W. A. Van Buren,
A. H. Snow, Fred B. Dubach, Harry Woollen and others, and the reunion ended with a half dozen of the songs of Yale. The guests and members present were William W. Backus, '32;

Amusements. Admirers of the highest form of dramatic art should not miss seeing Miss Vokes and her admirable company at the Grand. These performances are unique and in their way are models of artistic excellence. At the matinee, to-day, "A Game of Cards," "The Circus Rider" and "Pantomime Rehearsal" will be repeated, and to-night "Tears," "My Milliners Bill" and "Rough Diamond."

There will be two performances of "Shadows of a Great City" at English's to-day and "Ruling Passion" at the Park. At the latter house the attraction next week will be James A. Herne's beautiful play "Hearts of Oak." Mr. Frederic Bryton, the best dramatic sctor on the stage, will present his strong play "For-given" at the Grand the first part of next week -with a matinee on New Year's. He has an unusually good company and seats are now on sale for the engagement.

Murray and Murphy, two extremely popular Irish comedians, are underlined for English's the first part of next week in that howling absurdity 'Our Irish Visitors."

The new American Opera Company will appear at English's the latter half of next week in popular operas, as follows: Thursday, "Faust;" Friday, "Maritana;" Saturday matinee, "Bohemian Girl;" Saturday night, "Trovatore." Gustav Hinrichs is proprietor and director. Louis Natali and Adelaide Randall are the sopranos, Chas. Bassett and Wm. Castle tenors, Clara Pool and Lizzie MacNichol contraltos and Alonzo Stoddard, Frank Votta and E. N. Knight bassos. The company has all the beautiful scenery, costumes and accessories that were made for the original American Opera Company, and they give superb performances. There are seventy-five artists in it.

An Enjoyable Christmas Observance. At Grace Cathedral, last night, a Christmas tree, presents and a supper were given by the members of the Sunday-school to the poor children within the knowledge of the members. The affair was quite a success, more than fifty poverty-stricken children being made happy by this act of kindness. The evening was consumed in the bestowal of presents, recitations, singing and supper. It was an occasion of which Grace Cathedral may well be proud.

A Livery Firm's Demand.

James Copsey was before Judge Taylor, last evening, in proceedings supplementary to execution brought by Fischer & Gaeth, the liverymen. Recently Copsey hired a horse and buggy from the plaintiffs to go to Broad Ripple. It is alleged that he drove the horse so hard that it died, and on that plea a judgment of $150 was secured against him before a justice of the peace. He refused to pay the judgment, and Judge Taylor is attempting to ascertain whether or not he is able to pay it.

Soldiers' and Sallors' Monument. The commissioners of the soldiers' and sailors' monument in this city will have the plans and specifications of the uncompleted work ready for exhibition on Wednesday next, as hereto-fore promised. The bidders for the contract represent firms not only in this, but in many other States in the Union, Georgia, Tennessee, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia being largely represented in the list.

Harrison Home Club Meeting. The Harrison Home Club will meet to-night, in the Criminal Court room, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting has for its object the election of officers for the ensuing year and the consideration of other important matters. HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

The Plucky Fight Made by Two Courageous Ladies with Brutal Foot-Pads.

one of the most aggravated cases of highway robbery yet reported occurred on Cincinnati street, last evening, just after dark. Mrs. J. A. Ensley, of Brightwood, and Mrs. Thomas Murry, of Belle Piain, Is., who is visiting her, came down to the Massachusetts-avenue depot on the 6 o'clock train, and started to walk to the home of a brother on Michigan street. While they were crossing Cincinnati street two colored men ran up from behind, and began choking them, at the same time demanding what valuables they carried. The one who had hold of Mrs. Murry, grabbed her fur muff, in which was a pocket-book containing $30. Mrs. Murry attempted to prevent him from getting the money, and in the struggle that ensued she was struck in the face until the blood flowed freely from her nose. After the man had secured possession of the money he attempted to search Mrs. Murry for more valuables. She wore a gold watch, but after a struggle, in which her hair was disheveled and her clothes badly torn, she managed to escape from his grasp. Miss Ensley, who is a strongly built young lady, bad better luck in defending herself. She managed to strike her assailant several blows, and prevented him getting hold of her pocketbook, which contained a few dollars in money. The screams of the ladies aroused the people for several blocks around, and the highwaymen, seeing they would be captured if they continued the attack longer, fled down Cincinnati street to the first alley and then went east. Merchant-policeman McShultz and patrolman Mathe, who live in the neighborhood, chased the negroes several squares, but they made their escape. One highwayman is described as low, heavy-set and clean-shaven, while the other was tall and wore chin whiskers. Both were black and wore slouch hats. Mrs. Murry's face was badly scratched in the fight. She says that at one time her assailant had three of his fingers in her mouth, and she regrets that she did not have presence of mind enough to bite them off.

Meeting of the Supreme Court Bar.

General Coburg, chairman of the executive committee, has called a meeting of the members of the bar of the Supreme Court of the State at the Supreme Court room, in the State-house, on Friday, the 11th of January, at 10 o'clock A. M., to consider the subject of legislation relating to the court. All members of the bar of the court named are invited to attend. It is particularly desired that newspapers throughout the State will give this notice some attention.
